

The director's commentary

There is no peace, says my God, for the wicked.
Isaiah 57:21

Prophet Isaiah was my inspiration. Santos Trinidad, a 50-year old police detective, embarks on a bloody journey of expiation. Anonymous, hidden and 'wandering' characters living in chaos whose sins decide our fates and shape our world. A frenzy film noir on hidden connexions, on the people who determine who lives and who dies.

'No habrá paz para los malvados' is a fictional political thriller that does not attempt to explain the mechanics ruling the world, nor can it - there is no such thing. It only aims at reflecting the fear, the confusion, the disorder, in short, the chaos in which our lives seem to exist.

Indeed, once set in chaos, only pure chance could save us from catastrophe. Under these conditions, maybe just the lonely adventure of a deranged character could save the world.
